Personal Statement

If you are arguing about money, experiencing financial stress, carrying guilt or shame over past financial decisions or find that you have problematic money habits, Financial Therapy may help. Financial Therapy can improve relationships, achieve financial goals, overcome problematic money beliefs, create positive change and increase financial knowledge.

I am a Licensed Professional Clinical Counselor and a Certified Public Accountant who combines my knowledge of psychology and finances to help individuals and couples whose financial situation is resulting in relationship and mental health concerns. If you would like to learn more, please call me at 651-214-4650 or email me at denise@denisekautzer.com.
