Personal Statement

I am passionate about helping people gain insight into what is holding them back from living the lives they want to live. I help individuals overcome emotional issues that are obstacles to good financial decision-making, and I guide couples with different money management styles to work toward healthier, stronger relationships so they can manage their finances jointly for short and long-term success.

In addition to being a marriage and family therapist, I am a long-time business owner and manager who has done everything from run two family-owned businesses to CEO of Mom Inc. I have learned a lot from my experiences as business owner and entrepreneur. My diverse life experiences provide me with important perspective and understanding of my clients' life challenges and enhance my ability to help my clients achieve success.

I speak at events and offer continuing education classes and workshops for couples and individuals working on financial and relationship issues, as well as couples planning to marry and couples entering retirement. I am also a Licensed Sex Offender Treatment Provider.
